INTRODUCTION

I have nearly 20 years experience writing and producing for print, broadcast, and online media. As a science writer, I have written about a wide range of topics, focusing specifically on health and wellness. For the past 10 years I was a writer and producer for Sound Medicine, an award-winning public radio program for which I prepared material for interviews and produced and voiced regular weekly segments on health topics of interest to a national audience. My book, "Renewable: The World-Changing Power of Alternative Energy" (St. Martin's Press, 2013), received a starred review in Library Journal. I currently write for the School of Public Health at Indiana University, Bloomington, producing faculty profiles, press releases, feature stories, and a wide range of marketing materials.

I am also an experienced producer of audio and video podcasts and documentaries.
